Message from our President

When we think about Japan's role in global society and the future filled with hope for the next generation, it is becoming increasingly important to develop young leaders who respect diversity and hold an international network that extends across the world, which we believe will enhance Japan's soft power and contribute to the sustainable development of the planet and world peace.

CENTERYE is committed to nurturing young people who can demonstrate leadership in variety of fields and create social value, leveraging the experience that has accumulated over years conducting international youth exchange programs and the personal networks that has built both internally and externally. In this way, we aim to move forward step by step with like-minded people to shift the world for the better place.

President
KOMAGATA Kenichi
